"The only book on the market devoted exclusively to the subject of growing native California perennials, this is the consummate guide for the serious gardener. More than 500 species of native plants deemed suitable or worthy of trial for the natural garden are discussed at length; from woodland ferns to alpine buckwheats, from desert penstemons to coastal bluff dudleyas, from meadow-loving shooting stars to sand dune-inhabiting succulents, this book covers the full spectrum..."--from the back cover
