Hell Creek, Montana, is one of the most windswept, hardscrabble locales in the American West—a quiet town of ranchers, farmers, and others who seek the beauty of the open spaces. It is also the unlikely setting of some of the most fascinating events in the history of the United States and North America. From the first-ever discovery of a Tyrannosaurus rex to Lewis and Clark's landmark expedition; from the Freeman compound standoff to Sitting Bull and Little Big Horn, Hell Creek has been a central player in the events of the last two hundred years—and the last 200 million.

Now, with grace and quiet wit, renowned paleontologist and writer Lowell Dings takes us on a tour of this desolate, beautiful, out-of-the-way place and illuminates its inhabitants, geology, paleontology, and surprising place in history. Nature lovers, dinosaur buffs, and people fascinated with the turbulent history—both ancient and modern—of the American West will find much to delight them in this journey to Hell Creek.
