Scarlette Beane Karen Wallace

Scarlette Beane's face is as red as a beet, and the ends of her fingers are green. Her proud parents are sure their daughter will grow up to do something wonderful. For her fifth birthday Scarlette is given a vegetable garden. And one day with her trowel, some seeds, and the magic in her green fingers, "something wonderful" is what she does.

This enchanting story about finding and using your special talents features extraordinary paintings by a gifted new artist. With a short, crisp text that begs to be read aloud, Scarlette Beane will delight young gardeners and everyone who enjoys the glorious feeling of making BIG things happen.
