With greater emphasis on documentary work at A-Level, students need access to a wider range of documents than ever before. Focusing on European history from 1871 to 1975, this is one of a series of three books which links a range of documents to commentary which places them in context. The aim is to draw students directly into the policy debates of the period and to help them to develop their skills of critical analysis. The documents cover topics such as Nazi Germany, fascist Italy, Russia under Stalin, World War II, the origins of the Cold War, and European integration.
